Dr. Dave Horton

How effective is your team?

This leadership level day is based on Dave Horton's book, "Leading School Teams" and is designed with teams in mind who need to begin their journey toward strengthening teacher collective efficacy and student ownership of learning.

Dave will lead participants to evaluate team readiness and engage in purposeful dialogue to build trust and understand what is necessary to impact student outcomes. Special attention is given to the role of the team leader to prepare teams for successful collaboration.

- Engage with your team to examine their current structures and systems regarding trust, teaming protocols, and readiness to take on deeper learning.
- Initiate team readiness and engage in purposeful dialogue in order to build trust and understand what is necessary to impact student outcomes.
- Leading School Teams protocols and tools to train teachers to facilitate and engage in teaming effectively.

"The strategies within Leading School Teams allowed our leadership team to develop a deeper understanding between our members. This enabled our team to create more effective connections with each other, improved our levels of communication, and strengthened our team's bond."

-Jeff Franks, Principal, Acacia Middle School
